

Marine Trades Association Referral Scholarship The Landing School/Industry Collaboration

WHO

Students of The Landing School who are passionate about the industry are more likely to be successful and find rewarding careers than those who think study here might just be “interesting”. There will always be a mix of both, but students who come to us with a background or exposure to the industry are those we expect to return to the workforce and develop further.

WHAT

To encourage these types of students we are looking to help from the industry. You know the prospective students we want to attract. They might have worked a summer with you, or been active in the local boating community, or just often hangs around the docks. We are asking that you open their minds to the opportunity a Landing School education could create for them in this industry.

HOW: MTA REFERRAL SCHOLARSHIP

And we want to help the students who come to us with the support of the industry. Each student referred by a member of a partnered Marine Trades Association is eligible for a $500 tuition discount. Employers are asked to also provide a letter of recommendation for the student.

We will go further. For Fall 2019, The Landing School will also match specific student scholarships provided by members of partnered Marine Trades Associations to sponsor students accepted to The Landing School.

For example, if the company making the recommendation is willing to provide the student with a $1000 scholarship, the Landing School will match that, raising its contribution to $1,000, and making the combined discount off tuition a very attractive $2,000.

This offer does not preclude the student for being eligible for a number of other scholarships we have available, all thanks to industry, alumni, and other friends of the school who are helping to make tertiary education more affordable.
